ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

The Tamil Nadu Dr. Ambedkar Law University, Chennai is a premier institution for legal education established in the year 1997 in pursuance of the Tamil Nadu Act No.43 of 1997. His Excellency Shri. K. R. Narayanan, the then President of India inaugurated it on 9th September 1997. As a sui generis model, the University is the first of its kind in the country offering legal education both on its campus and through the affiliated law colleges in the State of TamilNadu.

In the race for reaching heights in legal education and specializations in law, the University has established the School of Excellence in Law in the University Campus. This University is in the forefront with renewed efforts in offering quality education, skills, training and furthering the focus on the Post Graduate studies in Law with the visionary leadership of its present Vice-Chancellor Prof.(Dr.) P. VANANGAMUDI

GENESIS OF THE WORKSHOP

The concept of Liberalization, Privatization and Globalization (LPG) works beyond the trade barriers. This made the developed countries in exploiting the developing countries in its natural resources particularly in food and agriculture sector, oil, general trade, monopolizing the wisdom of traditional knowledge, etc. Hence, there is a need of finer version of International Trade Law, in particular the notion of New International Economic Order, the object of economic integration with that of the pragmatic approaches of the International Trade Regime. International Trade Agreements and Conventions explore the balanced growth with the regulatory effect in transacting international trade in municipal spheres including Dispute Settlement Bodies which needs to be addressed to enable faster and balanced economic growth.
